"SVEN"

"Sven", Pion-Era Holstein ox dies

"Sven", a huge 2,300-pound Holstein ox prominent in Pion-Era shows since 1955 died recently on the Lone Star Ranch of Joe Delfari at Baldwinton, Sask.

The seven-year-old ox will be remembered by Pion-Era patrons as the huge docile animal hitched to the Red River Cart. At last year's show the Saskatoon Jaycees ran a weight-guessing contest on the popular fellow, creating a good deal of interest.

"Sven", formerly owned by Lloyd Bellows of Beechy, had wintered at the Delfari ranch along with four other Hereford oxen used at Pion-Era. His untimely demise leaves Pion-Era officials without an ox for the Red River Cart.

Anyone who owns or knows of an ox or steer quiet enough to be hitched singly on a cart is asked to get in touch with the Western Development Museum at Saskatoon. Sven had become such an integral part of the Pion-Era show, being held this year from June 30 to July 5, that officials feel there will be quite a void unless a replacement is found.

TODAY'S SMILE

National Water Safety Week June 15-21

Last year more than 1,000 people drowned in Canada. That is not a very proud record for any nation. Those men, women and children lost their lives simply because they neglected to observe elementary rules of water safety.

Every year the Canadian Red Cross reminds us of those rules and at first glance they seem so obvious and self-evident that we wonder why the Red Cross keeps issuing this material. This is the thought until we look at the record and compare a few statistics.

Most of those tragedies happened because people didn't think or never realized they were in any danger. They were foolhardy and ignored one or more of the simple precepts of safety in, on or near the water.

This year the Canadian Red Cross Society is asking us to draw the attention of readers to National Water Safety Week, June 15-21. This we are happy to do, and it is hoped that our words of warning may awaken some thought and save lives in this community.

It will take more than a water safety week to cut down our annual drowning toll but a mutual effort may produce results. Every citizen has a responsibility in this problem of swimming and boating accidents. We have a responsibility for our children, the passengers in our boats and those who use our lakes, rivers and streams for healthful, happy recreation.

Everyone should become acquainted with the Red Cross rules of water safety. The time to do it is now!

Big black bear bagged at the Bay

Excitement ran high in Fitch Bay when Mrs. G. H. Huckins spotted a large black bear opposite her home on the Ernest Webster farm. This is quite near several homes and almost within the village.

Mrs. Huckins got in touch with Roger Poitras, proprietor of the new store, and within a very short time the bear, a male weighing nearly 200 pounds, was shot and on display.

Bears are not unusual near built-in areas in the late summer and fall, but are seldom seen at this time of year. This one caused no little excitement, and was the target for many a camera while it was on display in front of the Poitras store. — The Stansstead Journal, Rock Island, Que.

LEAVING FOR ENGLAND and the Lambeth Conference is the Rt. Rev. Michael Coleman, Bishop of Qu'Appelle. The Conference, which is summoned every 10 years, is a gathering of Anglican Archbishops and Bishops from throughout the world. Accompanying Bishop Coleman will be his wife and son Michael.

Bishop Coleman to attend Lambeth Conference

Almost every part of the world and every race will be represented at the Lambeth Conference, which will be held in London, England, from July 3 to August 10. This Conference of more than 300 Bishops and Archbishops of the Anglican Church will be attended by the Rt. Rev. Michael E. Coleman, Bishop of Qu'Appelle.

Bishop Coleman, who is well known to many people of other faiths besides his own on the prairies through his weekly radio broadcasts, sails for England on June 10. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Coleman and their 15-year-old son Michael. The Bishop faces a busy schedule of speaking and preaching engagements in addition to the heavy conference agenda.

The Lambeth Conference, which is summoned every 10 years, is a means by which the Anglican Bishops discuss common problems facing the Church throughout the world and assess its progress and growth. The first Lambeth Conference met in 1867. The present one, the eighth, will be presided over by the present Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Geoffrey Francis Fisher.

One of the most important matters to be discussed at the Conference will be "Church Unity and the Church Universal". The Anglican Church has always been to the fore in discussions on the re-union of Christendom, and in fact pioneered the ecumenical movement. The Conference will discuss schemes for union between Anglican and other bodies in various countries.

Another important topic to be discussed is "The Holy Bible; its Authority and Message". Bishop Coleman is a member of the sub-committee which will report to the Conference on this subject. The Most Rev. Michael Ramsay, Archbishop of York, who attended the same college as Bishop Coleman, is chairman.

Other topics for the Conference are "Progress in the Anglican Communion", "The Reconciling of Conflicts between and within Nations", and "The Family in Modern Society".

While in England, Bishop Coleman will be meeting with various groups interested in the work of Qu'Appelle Diocese, including The Qu'Appelle Association and The Fellowship of the Maple Leaf.

Mrs. Coleman will be official delegate from Qu'Appelle to the World Mothers' Union Conference, to be held in London July 7-10. She will accompany the Bishop to several social functions, including the Royal Garden Party for Bishops and their wives.

Bishop Coleman expects to return to Canada about August 21.

Plant crop for ailing neighbor

On May 14, a group of neighbors gathered at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jones and put in their crop. Mr. Jones, who is just out of hospital, was unable to work, so with the spirit of neighborliness so apparent in this district, his comrades took over. They brought along their outfits and seeded 130 acres of wheat and oats. —The Mirror, Maidstone, Sask.

FARMERS - GARDENERS SHOULD LOOK FOR PESTS

Farmers and gardeners throughout the province should be on the look-out during the next few weeks for two insect pests which can do serious damage to gardens and shelterbelts. These are aphids or plant lice and fall cankerworms. Serious infestations of both of these insects occurred last year and may well occur again this year unless control measures are taken early.

Aphids or plant lice may be recognized as small, soft insects about the size of a pin-head, either brown, green or black in color, which cluster on branches, twigs, leaves and seed-pods. On some plants, infested leaves quickly roll and curl, enclosing the aphids inside and making control measures extremely difficult. Shelterbelt trees usually attacked include maple, elm and poplar. Many ornamental shrubs, perennial flowers and vegetables are also attacked and quickly damaged or disfigured unless control measures are taken.

Aphids can be readily controlled with the insecticide malathion. This chemical is obtainable either as a 50 percent emulsion or as a 25 percent wettable powder. Where only a few plants are to be sprayed small quantities of spray may be prepared by mixing 1 teaspoonful of the 50 percent malathion emulsion or 2 teaspoonfuls of 25 percent malathion wettable powder in one gallon of water. Larger quantities for spraying farm shelterbelts may be prepared by mixing ½ pint of 50 percent malathion emulsion or 1½ lbs. of 25 percent malathion wettable powder in 40 gallons of water.

Malathion is a deadly poison and should be handled with care. Edible vegetables which are sprayed with malathion should not be eaten for two weeks, but may be used safely after that time if thoroughly washed.

Fall cankerworms are brownish-green caterpillars, from one to one and one-half inches long when fully grown, which feed on the leaves of maple, elm, ash and fruit trees. When disturbed, these worms will hang from twigs or branches on long, silken threads. At first they eat small holes in the leaves and unless control measures are taken, the leaves are completely eaten as the season progresses. The damage is usually done during May and June.

Cankerworms can be controlled and injury to the trees prevented by spraying as soon as the worms appear with 50 percent wettable D.D.T. powder at the rate of one pound in 40 gallons of water. For individual trees the chemical may be mixed at the rate of 2 table-spoonfuls per gallon.

For spraying shelterbelts for either cankerworms or aphids it is desirable to use a high-pressure sprayer. Sprayers which have been used for applying 2,4-D must be thoroughly cleaned before they are used to spray trees. Clean the tank, the hose and the nozzles first with soap and water, then a household ammonia solution and finally rinse thoroughly with cold water.

Western Canada featured in U.S. radio programmes

The story of Western Canada's attractions is being told in the homes of Americans from Vermont to the Virgin Islands. Numerous travel "plugs" contained in recorded talks from the New York public relations office of Canadian National Railways are being carried by over 400 radio stations in 43 American states.

The series of 26 broadcasts entitled "This Is Canada" began in March. The promotions of Western Canada will be carried during the weeks of June 23, July 21 and 28 and August 11 and 18. They include: "Winnipeg, Gateway to the West"; "The Canadian Rockies"; "Alberta"; "British Columbia (1958 Centennial Year)"; and "Saskatchewan, Breadbasket of a Commonwealth."

The narration is by Peter Roberts, Canadian-born commentator for News of the Day and commentator on the National Broadcasting Company's weekend radio program, Monitor.

Hard liquor produces more alcoholics

Canadians are changing their drinking habits from beer to hard liquor, with a consequently increased problem of alcoholism, the Dominion Brewers Association declared in a brief submitted to Finance Minister Donald Fleming.

Pointing out that alcoholism rates are highest in countries when liquor is the chief drink, and lowest where the predominant drink is beer, the brewers group said: "At the present time the federal and provincial governments' fiscal policies are having the effect of encouraging drinking of hard liquor rather than beer."

Such a trend to liquor drinking and away from beer had actually been reversed in the United Kingdom, Denmark and Belgium, the brewing industry submission said. These countries are now beer-drinking countries, with much lower alcoholism rates than before, the brief stated. The change was brought about through taxation policy, with consequent effects on the relative prices of various alcoholic beverages. "Belgium has the largest per capita consumption of beer in the world, and the alcoholism rate is about one percent of the adult population, well below the world average, and certainly below the rate in Canada," the brief points out.

The brief outlines the contribution of the brewing industry to the Canadian economy. It provides employment to more than 60,000 Canadians in all parts of Canada, the brief states, and uses one-third of all barley processed and sold in Canada. And it has contributed over a billion tax dollars to federal and provincial governments since the end of World War II. "Particularly at a time when the government is stressing the need for greater employment, it is worth noting that beer, which is a bulky product, requires many more men to produce it, to transport it and sell it than does its chief competitor, liquor," the brief says.

On the score of beer prices, the brewers point out that since 1939, when the DBS Consumer Price Index increased 98 percent, the average price of a case of beer increased only 56 percent. But most of this increase is extra taxes, the brief states. Of the 56 percent price increase the brewers themselves received only 20 percent to take care of the considerable increases in wage and material costs.

The submission to the Finance Minister asks for the rescinding of the emergency tax placed on beer at the time of Korea, and the elimination of the present practice of the brewer paying sales tax on the beer excise duty as well as on the sale price of the beer. The brewers point out that this tax on tax is not levied on wine.

If these tax relief measures are granted, the brewing industry undertakes to immediately pass the reduction along to the consumer in the form of a decrease in price.

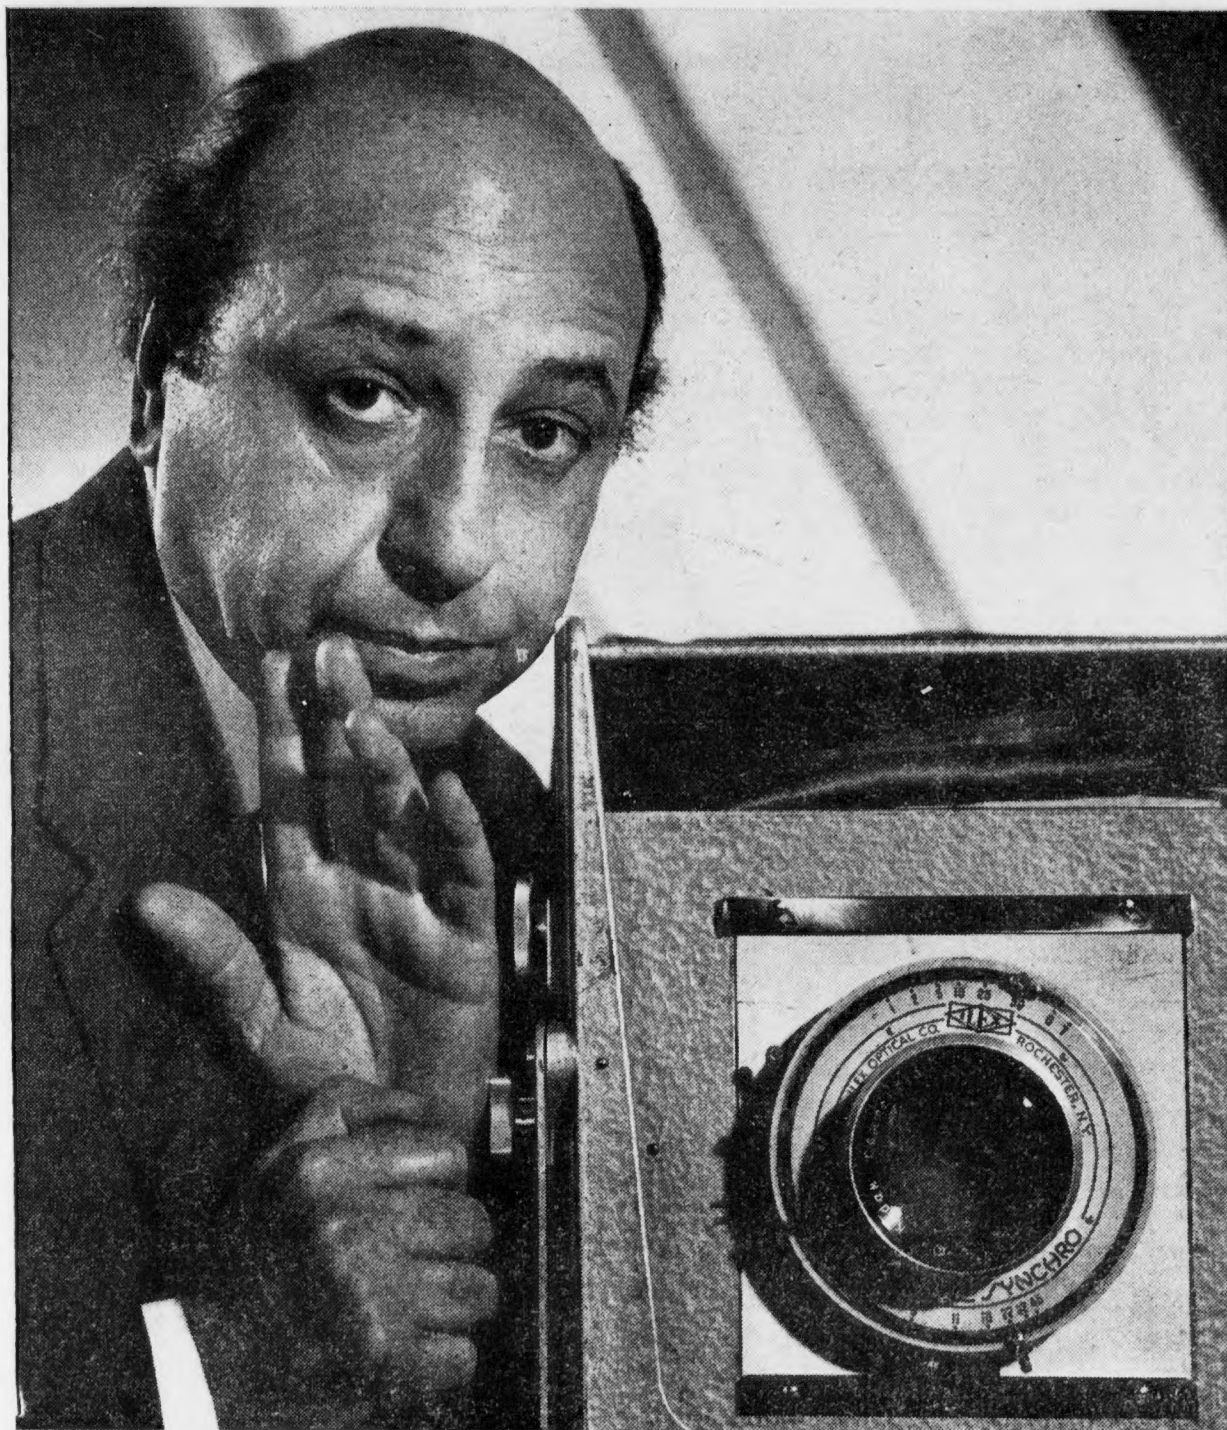

Spartan Cleaners to open soon

Walter Wilson and his staff of Spartan Cleaners have been working long hours completing the installation of the new equipment in the dry cleaning plant. The equipment expert was here all last week and completed the installation and the trial run was successful. A few minor adjustments are now being made and workmen are busy installing facilities for quick and efficient handling of garments from the cleaning to the finishing department.—The Leader, Davidson, Sk.

Portrait of Karsh

Close-Up of a Celebrated Canadian

Forty-nine year old Yousuf Karsh, who came to Canada from Armenia 35 years ago, stands today as one of the master portrait photographers of the world. He first achieved international recognition with his pictures of World War II leaders which form part of his collection of notables in "Faces of Destiny". Far from standing in awe of his subjects, Karsh is usually able to calm the more irascible with his own persuasiveness. Said Churchill after he had grudgingly allotted him a few moments for his portrait: "he can make a roaring lion stand still". Czechoslovakia's revered President Benes described him as "a formidable fellow, the only dictator I ever listened to."

Karsh began his career at the age of 15 apprenticed to an uncle in Sherbrooke, Que., later made Ottawa his headquarters. It was here he met his wife, Solange, whose keen interest in gardening helps fill the hours when Karsh is away on one of his frequent photographic tours.

National Film Board of Canada Photos

Karsh spends a morning in his Ottawa office with his secretary who reads his mail aloud to him. Years ago, when he was debating where to set up shop, Karsh chose Canada's capital, predicting it would become an important crossroads of the world; later as the world's great gathered here "Karsh of Ottawa" photographed them.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of stories about tourist attractions in Saskatchewan's parkland and forest regions.

Trees and water—put together in beautiful lake and forest settings—make the country north of Meadow Lake a vacationer's paradise.

Twenty-eight miles north of here is the Waterhen River. This twisting ribbon of water begins as Lac des Isles and flows eastward, threading together countless waterways as it winds leisurely towards Waterhen Lake, and eventually, the Beaver River.

Noted for its pickerel fishing, the Waterhen River is a dividing line between farmland and forest. Northward—bearing No. 4 Highway cuts across the river just southwest of its confluence with Waterhen Lake.

Waterhen Lake is described by Sam Bennett, one of two tourist camp operators on the lake, as "the best water for hook and line fishing in this part of the country." Sam adds that an Indian burial ground on the east shore of the lake is something tourists would really enjoy seeing.

Greig Lake, just southwest of Waterhen, is an up-and-coming family resort. Concession operator Vic Stubbington says the 20-square-mile lake, entirely surrounded by gently rising, heavily-treed slopes, is ideal for boating, sailing, water skiing, surf-boarding and swimming.

Greig and Waterhen Lakes complement each other. Greig is ideal for the family trade. Waterhen is near enough so that the ardent anglers in the family can slip away for a day's fishing.

Flotten Lake is one of the most beautiful in northwest Saskatchewan. Nestled deep in an encompassing ring of high, magnificently-treed hills, cut occasionally by steep-banked, narrow valleys, Flotten is 40 miles north of Meadow Lake on No. 4 Highway. Flotten resort owner Harry Millar states: "This lake was put here for the express purpose of providing quiet, family vacations close to nature unspoiled."

North of Flotten lies Keeley Lake, and at road's end, Canoe Lake. Driving conditions into the two lakes, which boast the finest fishing and scenery, are good in dry weather, but a gamble when it rains. However, road improvement work now on the books will soon take care of that.

To the northwest of Meadow Lake, popular resorts like Loon Lake, Goodsoil and Lac des Isles have a growing influx of tourists yearly. To the northeast, the "great water plains" of the Buffalo region have been opened up to tourists by the new Buffalo Narrows road.

Meadow Lake's Board of Trade, keenly aware of this area's great tourist potential, is launching a campaign to make every member a tourist receptionist.

As tourist committee member Gerry Ernewin puts it: "We want visiting tourists to know we're here to see that they have a good time."

Editorials from Canadian Weekly Newspapers

(These are not necessarily the views of the editor of this paper)

The other side . . .

(The Press, Wilkie, Sask.)

Editorial writing is rather a difficult and thankless task. Speaking from experience it becomes more or less a habit to dwell too strongly on the critical aspect in most matters. Criticism appears to be the theme of the average editorial and criticism in its place is a good thing. However, the criticism should be of a constructive nature instead of pulling something down to suit our viewpoint and sometimes feel we should write an editorial criticizing editorials in general; not only in our own newspaper, but in the dailies and other weeklies. Our habit of criticism has become so ingrained in us that we frequently, and consistently, forget the good works our fellowmen are undertaking. Take for instance, the efforts being consistently put forward by a few members of the Chamber of Commerce. If it wasn't for the half dozen or so live and enthusiastic members who stick with the job through thick and thin, the town and the community would stagnate. Take again the members of the various service clubs, the fraternal organizations and the church organizations. They have all done wonderful things for the community; working against adverse criticism. The local Kinsmen Club members have worked long hours; have given of their leisure time in order that some project for the betterment of the community might be fulfilled. This applies also to the Columbian Club, the Canadian Legion, the Knights of Columbus, the CGIT, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Guides, dozens of church societies and a host of other organizations. We, along with practically every other resident of the town and community, sometimes grumble at the frequency of the calls to donate to this and that organization; but have we ever quietly sat down and considered what life would be like in this community if these clubs or society members did not bestir themselves to keep things on the move and the life of the community progressing. Naturally, there is a duplication of effort in many endeavours being undertaken, but we cannot all think alike, at least we never have, and all must be given a chance to keep things humming in their own way.

Summing it all up, we gripe, we mumble in our beards, but let us sit back and try and figure what community life would be like if we did not have these live wires to keep the pot boiling.

Time to think

(The Herald-Tribune, Grande Prairie, Alta.)

The summer's first holiday weekend is past, and few enough serious accidents were recorded in the Peace River country. It is a good start, but there are more long weekends ahead, more holiday drivers who'll be touring the country within the warm, summer months to come.

There'll be road problems—more than enough of them—for drivers to face this summer. Dust, mud, heavy traffic and carelessness are the greatest problems. Drivers would be wise to act now and see their cars are in tip-top condition for this summer's driving. They'll be using their cars for picnics, fishing trips holidays, and a number of other purposes that crop up only in summer.

That means there will be more cars on the road, and more reason for all those drivers to be extra-cautious when they're driving. And, in summer, leisure drives usually mean the family is along, and that the motorist needs to take additional care of his precious cargo.

We can never hope to eliminate all accidents, but we can eliminate most of the accidents that are due to human negligence or thoughtlessness, or mechanical failure. It means a little more foresight, and a lot more caution.

Most people know when they will take their holidays. It's only a matter of a day's work, at the most, for a garage to check over most autos and find whatever repairs need to be done to keep the car road-worthy. A moment's work is needed to clean a windshield, or to take the film of dust and mud from headlights and tail-lights.

These are simple things, and they're well worth doing. Just as simple is the matter of being courteous when you drive. It may add an hour to your trip, but it may also save your life. There's a little point in trying to save 10 minutes when it may mean your 10 minutes saved are spent in hospital, at best. On the other hand, it could mean you'll be one of the digits in a report on traffic fatalities this summer. It's well worth thinking about.

Farm danger

(The News, Tillsonburg, Ont.)

One member of every fourth farm family in Ontario will become an accident victim this year if our accident rating continues as it has in the past. This is the grim warning to farm workers issued by the Ontario Department of agriculture.

Carelessness in handling farm machinery accounts for nearly half of the annual 60 farm accident deaths in the province. Since the tractor is used more than any other machine, its careless and improper use causes more accidents than any other single agent.

Machinery has taken much of the burden out of farming, but machinery, mixed with carelessness, has added a new element of danger. It is time farm workers began to respect the danger involved and the necessity of following the safety rules at all times. It may take a few minutes longer to do a job safely, but what is that compared to months in the hospital, shattered limbs—or death.

In-a-hurry driver target of drive

The "in-a-hurry" driver will find himself the target of an international campaign to reduce traffic deaths this summer. Beginning June 1, Canada and the United States, with Puerto Rico participating as well, will conduct an intensive "Slow Down and Live" drive. Police, governments, safety organizations, industry and many other groups will co-operate in this campaign against the motorist who attempts to use all the tricks he knows to get farthest fast.

The campaign will aim its guns at the driver who cuts into traffic, fails to stop at intersections, jumps traffic-control signals and generally drives as a menace to other drivers and pedestrians. The heart of the campaign will attempt to make each individual motorist realize that he is the offender, not the other motorist, and the slogan, appearing below a picture of a surprised-looking vehicle operator, will read, "Who? Me?" with the reply, "Yes, you!"

This is Canada's second year to participate in the "Slow Down and Live" campaign, sponsored nationally here by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference. As last year, the 1958 effort will run through the summer vacation months of June, July and August and an official Provincial Safety Director will co-ordinate the activities in each province, providing assistance as well to the community safety councils where they exist.

In 1957, the over-all record of highway fatalities in Canada did not decrease as compared to the same 1956 period. However, traffic deaths dropped, during the summer, in five provinces as well as in 28 states and Puerto Rico.

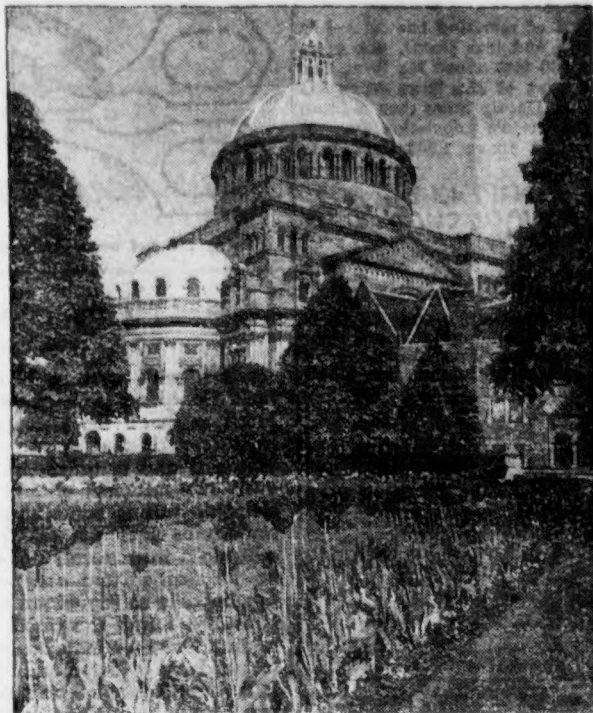

Said W. Arch. Bryce, general manager of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference, national sponsors in Canada of "Slow Down and Live", "With the Canadian motorist and walking public becoming more and more aware of the perils of traffic and taking precautions to avoid those perils we can hope for a definite reduction in highway deaths this summer. However, as our chairman, Hon. Gordon Taylor has pointed out, the only way this can be done is for the individual driver and pedestrian to do it. He cannot leave it to the other fellow and expect to be safe himself."

THE MOTHER CHURCH, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., where Christian Scientists from many parts of the world gathered for the Annual Meeting on Monday, June 2. The chime tower is the Original Edifice, dedicated in 1895. The Christian Science Church was founded by Mary Baker Eddy, who discovered Christian Science in 1866 and published the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" in 1875.

Three anniversaries celebrated

Humanity's emergence into the space age should be greeted with firm assurance of God's unerring direction and supporting care, according to The Christian Science Board of Directors.

Some may view this new age with fear and trembling, but Christian Scientists welcome it and the opportunities that accompany it, they declared.

More than 7,000 church members from many parts of the world heard the Directors' message at the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Scientific reliance on God's power is showing the way, the Directors said, to bring peace and harmony both to the individual and the world.

In spite of the material progress being made, it is becoming evident that material discoveries "are not really solving the basic problems confronting humanity, but seem, in fact, to be increasing them," they said.

Stressing the challenge of the new age, they added: "While the constructive uses of modern inventions promises much, their destructive possibilities . . . would threaten the very existence of our present civilization. Consequently, thoughtful people are beginning to realize that only by availing themselves of a higher power, a force far more powerful than that obtained through nuclear fission or fusion, can men hope to hold in check and nullify the evil elements of the human mind which would threaten to misuse the inventions of the space age."

Named President of The Mother Church was Leonard T. Carney of Boston, Mass., a Christian Science teacher and practitioner active in the healing work of the denomination for many years. He will serve a one-year term.

In a ringing address, Mr. Carney told the assembly that vast new opportunities for service to humanity are at hand. "It is yielding to materiality that blocks our progress," he declared. "The shackles of materiality fall away as we advance spiritually."

Healings through wholly spiritual means of tuberculosis, cancer, blindness, epilepsy, and other disabilities were reported at the meeting.

Three anniversaries were celebrated during the year by The Christian Science Publishing Society, it was reported—the founding of The Christian Science Journal 75 years ago, the Publishing Society 60 years ago, and The Christian Science Monitor 50 years ago.

Special events announced by John H. Hoagland, Manager of the Publishing Society, included: (1) publication on October 18 of a Fiftieth Anniversary Edition of the Monitor; (2) publication by Houghton Mifflin Company of a book by Erwin D. Canham entitled "Commitment to Freedom: The Story of The Christian Science Monitor;" and (3) production of a 30-minute documentary film in color regarding the Monitor entitled "Assignment Mankind".

Details of other new projects were disclosed in the meeting by key officials. Will B. Davis, Manager of Committees on Publication, revealed that a new hour-long motion picture in color entitled "The Mother Church in Action" would be released in the early spring of 1959. Gordon V. Comer, Clerk, announced that the air conditioning of the original edifice of The Mother Church, the Extension, and the Publishing House would be completed next year.

Also announced was publication of a Danish translation of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

Among the new branches of The Mother Church established during the year were those in: Letchworth and in Whitby, England; Lindau, Ludwigsburg, and Uelzen, Germany; Zwolle, the Netherlands; Rotorua, New Zealand; Sudbury, Ont., Canada; and Porto Alegre, Brazil.

Community park underway

First of the "community league" parks in the city is moving ahead well, members of the northend Broadview Community League reported.

Set of monkey bars, built and donated by Steel Industries, has been installed, baseball diamond has been levelled and plans are in the wind for construction of fencing around the diamond. D and B construction have the contract.

The northend park will have a skating rink this winter, which in summer will house basketball and volleyball courts.

Tot lot will be constructed, and plans for fencing and landscaping are being drawn.—The Herald Tribune, Grande Prairie.

Carrot River Scouts selected for Camp Easter Seal course in rustic camping

The Carrot River Boy Scout Troop have been invited to participate in a "Camp Easter Seal" training course at Manitou Beach, Watrous, during the long weekend of May 17-19. This training course is being conducted by the Crippled Children's Council of Saskatchewan for their camp leaders in preparation for the camping season. The Crippled Children's Council at their conference last fall decided to introduce outdoor or "rustic" camping into their program for the underprivileged children this year. They requested the Boy Scouts Association of Saskatchewan to provide for them a training session on camping on Monday May 19. The Association in turn asked the Carrot River Troop to take on this important assignment, which request we have accepted. Our plan is to take the boys who are presently studying the Bronze Arrowhead course of instruction for the Leaders of the Patrols, this will round out the course, as an overnight camp, is part of the requirements, therefore there will be a total of about ten Scouts making the trip to Watrous. Our present plans include leaving here Saturday afternoon, arriving at Watrous around 7 to 8 p.m. Saturday and leaving their late in the afternoon Monday, arriving home Monday night.—The Echo, Star City, Sask., May 21, 1958.

Massachusetts man named President

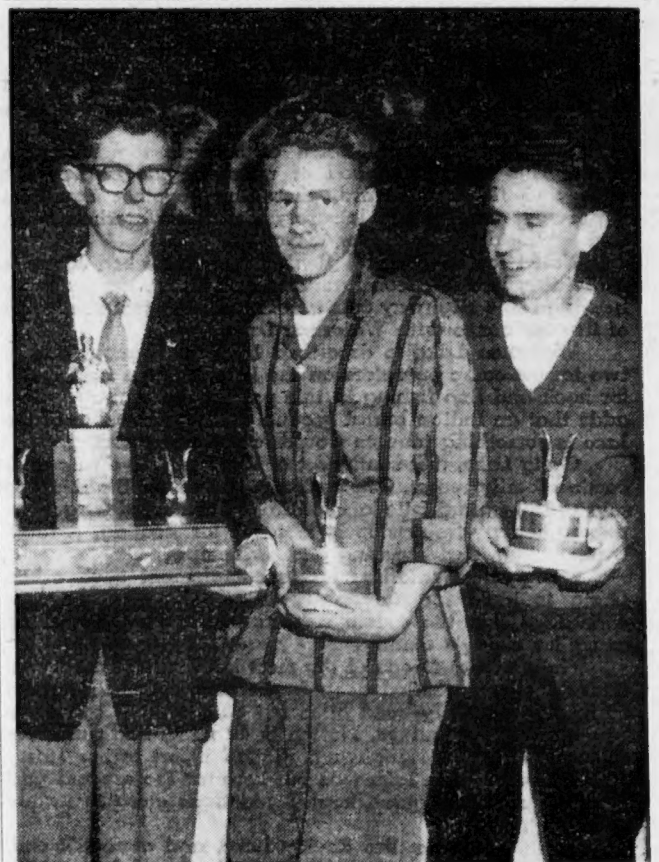

LEONARD T. CARNEY of Boston, Mass., was named President of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. Mr. Carney's appointment was announced by The Christian Science Board of Directors at the Annual Meeting of the denomination attended by more than 7,000 Christian Scientists from many parts of the world. He succeeds Miss Mabel Ellen Lucas of Brookline, Mass. He will serve a one-year term. A member of the Board of Trustees of The Christian Science Publishing Society, Mr. Carney holds degrees from Grinnell College, Iowa, and the Harvard Law School. A native of Marshalltown, Iowa, he has been an authorized teacher of Christian Science since 1934, and a Christian Science practitioner since 1919. From 1943 until 1947 he served as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

BLACK ORCHID?

No matter what anyone tells you—there's no such thing as a black orchid. Nature has produced white, brown and—yes—orchid orchids, but never a black one. White orchids are in large demand for weddings, and bleaching is a common practice among some growers. But black orchids they're in the same class as pink elephants.

Meetings are held in the Car at each point on the itinerary, at eight o'clock in the evening. When schools are open, arrangements are made with the school authorities to have the Pupils visit the car during school hours. Sound films show the results obtained by farming people through planting trees, and give practical instruction in tree planting and home beautification. An illustrated talk covers planting methods, which trees to plant, the laying out of a shelter belt, and planning the home ground, with information on the care of trees and shrubs. A question period follows each evening meeting.

The Bible today

Recently a senior user of a new hearing aid explained to her Hearing Aid Consultant that she was making slow progress in educating her hearing and her voice because she lived alone. He suggested that she try reading aloud to herself one hour a day. She began with the Bible and read right through it. Words spoken aloud took on fresh significance and time passed more swiftly. Then some chance visitors stayed to listen. They found she was such a good reader that she was asked to give readings at her church.

The Bible has been called "The Silent Missionary". It speaks in more than 1,100 languages and always improves the sincere listener.

A. W. "BILL" HANKS

Back to "Blighty" after forty years

By Ron Tuckwell

A. W. "Bill" Hanks, editor-publisher of the St. James Leader, who is a former national CWNA president and past-president of the Manitoba Weekly Newspapers Association, boarded the TCA "Constellation" at Stevenson Field, on Saturday, May 17, and joined the party of 50 prominent Canadians on the TCA inaugural flight from Victoria, B.C., to London, England—an all-expense-paid trip over the new direct route from Canada to the U.K.

The party is made up of leading figures in Chamber of Commerce, Travel Agency, and Publicity activities, from Victoria to Toronto. The flight was non-stop from Gander airport, Newfoundland, to London. Besides Mr. Hanks, only one other weekly newspaper representative, Edgar Dunning, of Ladner, B.C., was aboard.

For "Bill" Hanks, this will be the first trip back to his native England since he was invalided home to Canada after being seriously wounded while serving as a machine-gunner with the Canadian Army in the First Great War, over 40 years ago. He will not be returning with the flight party, as he intends taking advantage of the opportunity to visit for a couple of weeks in his former homeland.

Readers of the Virden Empire-Advance can look for some interesting reports on this flight, and conditions as Mr. Hanks finds them in England after his long absence—as he will be sending back stories of his impressions, which will be relayed through the columns of the Manitoba weekly press.—The Empire-Advance, Virden, Man.

New S.T.C. buses now operating

Three of five new Western Flyer "Canuck" passenger coaches ordered by the Saskatchewan Transportation Company have now been delivered from Winnipeg, according to an announcement by R. D. Mahara, Operations Manager of the company.

This brings to 33 the number of diesel engine buses now being operated by the company as part of its policy of re-equipping its fleet with up-to-date and economical passenger carrying units.

In keeping with the trend of obtaining the best buses which are suited to western Canadian conditions the buses have several added features this year such as "solex" tinted glass windows and power steering.

The solex glass is installed on the side windows and the rear window of the new coaches. This tinted glass will reduce the glare from the bright sun light and add to passenger comfort. Solex glass also reduces the amount of heat which is normally passed through plain glass windows.

Power steering gives the bus driver more positive control of his bus and provides a greater safety factor when the bus is required to travel over soft roads.

"The solex tinted glass windows and the power steering have been favorably received by both the travelling public and the Company's drivers," Mr. Mahara said. The remaining two new buses are expected to be delivered to Regina within the next two weeks.

Lose a Minute — Save a Life

WEED LOSS

In the U.S. the farm loss from weeds is estimated at about $5 billion a year, which is many times the loss from all animal diseases and more than that from destruction caused by insects and plant diseases.

HOME CONSUMPTION

In all, not more than 7 percent of the world's agricultural output—including tea, coffee, cacao, cotton, rubber and wool—is exported; the rest is consumed within the borders of the producing countries.

NO MORE EGG MONEY

for Mrs. Smith

Proposed Compulsory Egg Marketing Act can put her out of business

• The small egg producer — like the lady who brings farm-fresh eggs to your door or to your nearby produce dealer — can be put out of business under the regulations of the proposed Compulsory Egg Marketing Board. The Board will have power to "seize, remove and dispose of any of the regulated product (eggs) kept, transported, stored or marketed" contrary to Board orders. Mrs. Smith can not only be regulated out of business, but if she stays in business, she'll be subject to inspection and search by Board "Gestapo". And who must finally pay the high salaries of Board members and maintain the force of inspectors scattered throughout the province? The consumer, of course! Egg prices must go up to pay the cost of administration. You get no better eggs — the producer gets no more money!

WEDDING BELLS

HAINING—THOMAS

The Acme United Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Monday afternoon June 16th, when Elizabeth Mary, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thomas exchanged nuptial vows with Delmar Haining, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haining of Red Deer. The altar was banked with large bouquets of pink and white peonies and roses. Rev. Keith Syer officiated.

Given in marriage by her Father, Beth was a charming bride attired in a three quarter length gown of lace net over satin. Her gown featured a scalloped neckline, full skirt with lace insert and long lily point sleeves. Her veil was of silk illusion net and was shoulder length, and her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and pink rosebuds.

Joan Boake was her Matron of Honor and chose a three quarter length gown of blue lace and carried a nosegay of white carnations. Little Miss Constance Ward was flower girl and was prettily dressed in white nylon and carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Lyle Haining, brother of the groom was Best Man and Rae W. Thomas, uncle of the Bride and Peter Reddekopp ushered the guests to their places. Mylene Reddekopp, Aunt of the Bride, was soloist and sang two numbers "A Bride's Prayer" preceding the ceremony and "All Joy Be Thine" during the signing of the register. Mrs. W. A. Greenway was organist.

A reception was held in the banquet room of the Acme Memorial Hall immediately following the ceremony. Lyle Haining acted as Toastmaster and called on Walter J. Reddekopp, Uncle of the Bride, who very ably proposed the toast to the bride which was responded to by the groom.

Beth chose a sheath type floral dress of burnt orange tones topped with a beige duster complemented with brown accessories for her going away ensemble. The happy couple are at present honeymooning in the U.S.A. and West Coast and will make their home in Red Deer upon their return.

A wedding dance was held later on in the evening
